

RACE THE WORLD

- Web-based application: no installation needed
- Free mobile apps available (Android and iOS)
- Fast updates of boat position and weather permits constant feedback and minimal lag
- Physical and hydrodynamic parameters from real-world boats are used to create a realistic simulation
- Smooth weather interpolation from realtime sources (no constant zones) ensures weather accuracy
- Forums for general and technical discussion and race proposals
- All times are GMT/UTC time to ensure consistency and clarity across the global SOL community

www.sailonline.org

Take the helm of a virtual sailing boat and test yourself against hundreds of other sailors

"It has everything I want and nothing I don't want."

"It's certainly a sailing strategy competition rather than just a game and you are rewarded or punished for your decisions."

Learn wind navigation and sail the globe

Sailonline ("SOL") is regarded by yachting navigators as the premier virtual ocean racing simulation on the Internet, with many features that cannot be found elsewhere. Both the racing beginner and the round-the-world sailor will experience the excitement of a real race. The old cliché "five minutes to learn, a lifetime to master" truly describes Sailonline.

Every player must take into account boat performance, race conditions, and weather to make it to the finish line. The best strategy for combining these will win the race, so the platform is also an excellent training tool for both aspiring and experienced race navigators.

SOL has been actively running on the Internet for many years providing entertainment and excitement around the globe with its continuously expanding collection of ocean, coastal and lake races, many designed and proposed by SOLers themselves.

When partnered with a real world event we can overlay the trackers of the real boats onto the virtual race screen for added "reality".

Our fleet of boat designs, from Viking longships to foiling catamarans, is kept up-to-date, and new boat types are regularly added.

We offer an unparalleled experience of virtual sailboat-racing and navigation.

"Sailonline.org offers an online yacht racing experience like no other. Accurate polar plots, state of the art weather and real-time chat are combined to create the ultimate online environment. Did we mention that it's FREE? No extra sails to be purchased, no credits to buy..."

FEATURES

- Free. Anyone can play without charge. Just register your boat and join a race
- Easy to use with an intuitive user interface and an easy-to-follow manual to get you started
- Day/night/twilight modes add "realism"
- Multilingual chatroom where our international community helps and welcomes all new players
- Proven robustness which results in user confidence
- Racing is fair, since no 'extras' can be purchased for advantage – true one-design racing